

Feb 05, 2017

For the first time “Abaya Fashion Show” at AAU

Different activities and charity initiatives carried out by Al Ain University of Science and Technology, where the Student Recruitment Unit organized the “AAU Abaya Fashion Show” to support Autism people, in participation with elite designers where they splayed the latest designs of the Abaya and fashion.

The exhibition included different activities such as, children's activities, foods and valuable prizes.

Designer “Searina” one of the most famous fashion designers was a guest of honor at the exhibition, where she toured the exhibition and expressed her admiration for the outstanding designers and emphasizing the importance of supporting talented people. She added that organizing “AAU Abaya Fashion Show” to support autism is an important achievement aims to support charitable projects. “Searina” provided her special thanks for Al Ain University of Science and Technology for hosting her and wished more progress and success.

The aim of this exhibition is to support youth projects, and participate in supporting charitable projects, in addition to create a family atmosphere full of fun and enjoyment, where the Al Ain University of Science and Technology is seeking an active participation in society, strengthen its communication between them and deepen its cooperation relations.

Press Release Link